Last Week: Roger Massie

Roger has represented Australia at many international competitions and this year goes to Rio as the coach of the para-Olympic table tennis team. He gave us an insight into the essential qualities for good coaching. Communication, knowledge and innovation. Communicating with all people involved in a team, athletes, families, and support staff. Knowing names always leaves a good impression. Showing interest in all the team as individuals.

Don't take yourself too seriously.

Continue to learn from all of your team and all the support people.

A quote from Michaelangelo:

The greater danger for most of us lies not in setting our aim too high and falling short; but in setting our aim too low, and achieving our mark.
